I can never grow old and I will never die, for I am Earth; those who love, nurture, respect and partake of my gifts, will become like me and receive everything I said to you, that I AM. The earth body and the human body are one and the same; they both came together to create something wonderful. Both the planet earth and the humans that live upon her need each other to sustain life, the human body is directly made up of energetic cells which flourish and create greatness when nourished through pure substance. The earth provides the purest of pure for it was made to do so, but the earth needs the human body to take care of the earth's body in order to continue the purest of pure life form. This book speaks of the earth as a living, breathing, loving, feeling, thinking entity and her partner is the human body. It speaks of why it is so important to nurture our earth now.
