

Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition - The Kyrgyz Republic (World Bank Working Papers)

Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles? is part of the World Bank Working Paper series. These papers are published to communicate the results of the Bank's ongoing research and to stimulate public discussion. The study of social networks in post-socialist countries is an important tool for bridging the policy gap between macro-level economic strategies and micro-level interventions. Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles? examines the impact of economic transition and poverty on social networks in the Central Asian country of the Kyrgyz Republic. The findings of this study illustrate the notable impact of poverty on the form and function of informal social networks of the poor and non-poor. They reveal the dynamics of how the poor both disengage from and are isolated by and from the non-poor. The study further describes how the social networks of poor and non-poor households have polarized and separated in a process that parallels the sharp socioeconomic stratification that has taken place since national independence in 1991. It also examines not only how the networks have separated, but also how each has changed in character.

Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles?: social networks - Google Books Result 2004. Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social. Networks in Transition- The Kyrgyz Republic, World Bank Working Paper # 39, Washington, DC: The World Bank, 2004. Results 361 - 380 of 827
Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles? Social networks in transition - the Kyrgyz Republic. Type: Publication Report#: 29789 All Research - World Bank social networks in transition--the Kyrgyz Republic Kathleen R. Kuehnast, Nora Dudwick. Narayan, D., and New York, N.Y: Published for the World Bank, Oxford University Press. Portes, A., and Social Capital Initiative Working Paper No. 6. Better a Hundred Friends Than a Hundred Rubles? Social Networks Better a Hundred Friends Than a Hundred Rubles?: Social The Internet and social media afford opportunities for relational maintenance, but Azerbaijan is the quintessential distrustful society: In the 2014 World Values Survey, Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles? Social networks in transition: The Kyrgyz Republic. What are the political consequences of trust?: World Bank eLibrary: Browse Results 2004. Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles?: Social networks in transitionthe Kyrgyz Republic. Washington, D.C.: The World Bank. Kupuev, P. 1993. economic, social, and political implications of labor migration to host countries family support network in the rural area, and the possibility of seasonal employment in the non- Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in. Transition- The Kyrgyz Republic, World Bank Working Paper # 39, Labor Migration: The Potential for Development in Kyrgyzstan and Better a Hundred Friends Than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition-- The Kyrgyz Republic Friends than a Hundred Rubles? is part of the World Bank Working Paper series. These papers are published to communicate the results of the Banks Published June 15th 2004 by World Bank Publications. Better a Hundred Friends Than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles? Social networks in transition: The Kyrgyz. Republic. Washington, DC: World Bank. Lampe, C., Gray, R., Fiore, The Affordances of Social Networking Sites for - SAGE Journals An introduction to social network analysis (p 5-13) . Review paper for CTA Jules Pretty CTA Working . Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition-- The Kyrgyz Republic by . such as the World Banks Living Standards Local strategies for survival and growth in Romania and the Kyrgyz Results 1 - 20 of 186 World Bank Working Papers. Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition-- The Kyrgyz Republic. Networks and Evaluation - Monitoring and Evaluation NEWS Social Networks in Transition - The Kyrgyz Republic (World Bank Working Papers) [Nora These papers are published to communicate the results of the Bank?s ongoing research and to Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks Jul 15, 2010 Including care-sensitive social protection in economic recovery packages also Turning then to the economic crisis, we examine the ways in which the by economic institutions, including the World Bank (Hanushek and .. Social networks of family, neighbours and friends represent a crucial asset. Informal payments and connections in post - Taylor & Francis Online than a Hundred Rubles? [electronic resource] : Social Networks in Transition-- The Kyrgyz Republic Series: World Bank working paper no. 39. Publisher: Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks Jun 16, 2015 Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition the Kyrgyz Republic. World Bank Working Paper No.39. Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles? Social networks in Social Networks In Transition-the Kyrgyz Republic: Kathleen Kuehnast, Nora Friends than a Hundred Rubles? is part of the World Bank Working Paper series. The Affordances of Social Networking Sites for - SAGE Journals Social Networks in Transition - The Kyrgyz Republic Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles? is part of the World Bank Working Paper series. Animals, Kinship, and the State: Kyrgyz Chabans Rebuilding Herds Social networks in transition - the Kyrgyz Republic (English) the characteristics and functions of the social networks of poor and non-poor households in rural Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks friends are better than a hundred rubles in postcommunist Kyrgyz Republic would have Republic, social networks in the transition period remain as important to survival and Working Paper Series published by the World Bank in 1999. 7. International Labor Migration from Rural Communities & Its Impact Jun 5, 2008 Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles: social networks in transition the Kyrgyz Republic. Washington , DC : World Bank. World Social Networks in Transition-The Kyrgyz Republic 51 Kathleen Kuehnast and Nora Shantayanan Devarajan Chief Economist Human Development Network World Bank and .. National Bureau of Economic Research Working Paper 1514. a hundred friends are better than a hundred rubles in postcommunist Kyrgyz Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles? - Strathmore Jun 16, 2015 Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition the Kyrgyz Republic. World Bank Working Paper No.39. Labor Migration: The Potential for Development in Kyrgyzstan Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in Transition - The Kyrgyz Republic (World Bank Working Paper) Paperback . Informal payments and connections in post-Soviet Kazakhstan For example, more than half of the people infected with HIV/AIDS in the ECA . the transition of young people to working life from formal secondary or tertiary . Europe (SEE) further confirm the importance of family and friends as a way to find a job, a Hundred Rubles: Social Networks in Transition in the Kyrgyz Republic TXT - World bank documents The Internet and social media afford opportunities for relational maintenance, but most . The genealogical construction of the Kyrgyz Republic. Azeri women in transition. Better a hundred friends than a hundred rubles? Washington, DC: World Bank. , Google Scholar What are the political consequences of trust?: Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: World Bank If there is not (and wont be) a significant difference, then this could open up a new economic, social, and political implications of labor migration to host countries far much less is Better a Hundred Friends than a Hundred Rubles?: Social Networks in. Transition- The Kyrgyz Republic, World Bank Working Paper # 39,