

Food, Girls, and Other Things I Cant Have

FOOD, GIRLS, AND OTHER THINGS I CANT HAVE is the story of a boy who doesnt fit--in his pants, in his family, in his school, or in his life. If Andrew Zansky can only be thin enough, smart enough, or popular enough, he thinks everything in his life will be perfect. His father will come back home. The pretty girl in school will fall in love with him. His Mom will be happy again. While hes working to achieve this fantasy future, Andrew eats. A lot. He buries his problems in his Moms mini-snacks, analyzing his world while stuffing down his feelings. When I chew loud enough, he says, I cant hear myself think. Its like a little vacation. FOOD, GIRLS, AND OTHER THINGS I CANT HAVE follows Andrews journey to self-awareness and self-acceptance (by, unexpectedly, joining the high school football team). By the end of the story, Andrew stops living in his head and starts participating in life. Perhaps most importantly, he comes to understand that feeling different doesnt make him weird or special; it makes him just like everyone else.
